New Rules Given By Post Office

Postmaster Anne Wolstencroft of Sayville has announced that all first class mail and parcels weighing five pounds or less and measuring not more than 60 inches in length and girth combined, will be air lifted on a space-available basis between the United States and all military post offices overseas.

Paid at surface rates, the packages will be moved by surface transportation within the United States from the points of mailing to the port of embarkation, Miss Wolstencroft said. All such parcels should be clearly marked upon acceptance at the post office with the letters SAM (surface airtight mail). This will eliminate reweighing on the west coast prior to dispatch to overseas military post offices.

Postmaster Wolstencroft also reminded mailers that Christmas parcels under five pounds, though given airtight priority from San Francisco to Vietnam on a space available basis, should be mailed no later than December first. Regular airmail should be sent no later than December 10th.

Under the mail act signed by President Johnson on November second, second class publications, such as newspapers and magazines, will also be airtight to Viet Nam from San Francisco, Miss Wolstencroft said.

As We Observed Veterans Day

Riflemen of the Smith-Wever Post, American Legion, fire a salute to dead comrades. Lt. Col. George F. X. McInerney, Air Force Reserve, of Bayport; Rear Adm. William A. Sessions, Ret., of Oakdale, and Maj. Gen. Charles G. Stevenson, Ret., of Sayville urge vigilance against aggressors. The Junior Drum and Bugle Corps color guard of the Sayville Fire Department marches down Main Street. It all happened in Sayville's Veterans Day celebration.

Lt. Manfredi and Miss Biondo Wed

On Saturday afternoon, in Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church in Lindenhurst, Miss Anna Marie Biondo, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Biondo of Lindenhurst, became the bride of Lt. Noah Ralph Manfredi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noe Manfredi of Garfield Avenue, Sayville. The Rev. Thomas Holton performed the ceremony before the altar which was decorated with two baskets of white fall flowers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory reemboiled Alencon lace gown with seed pearls with a jewel neckline, long sleeves and cathedral train. Her long bouffant veil fell from a matching lace headpiece and she carried a cascade bouquet of white phalaenopsis orchids with white roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Rose Biondo of New York was matron of honor for gown of Alencon lace in olive her cousin and wore a long green with a chiffon overdress, round neckline and elbow sleeves, a matching headpiece and veil and carried a cascade bouquet of green baby orchids and yellow roses.

Miss Joann Forte, Miss Liberta Carotenuto both of Lindenhurst, and Miss Anna Russo, a cousin of the bride from Massapequa, were the bridesmaids, wearing gold gowns like that of the maid of honor and carrying the same bouquets. The junior bridesmaids, cousins of the bride, were Mary Biondo of Mastie Beach and Cathy Cappiello of Massapequa. Their gowns were deep orange and they carried snowball bouquets of rust colored chrysanthemums. Lisa Ann Coluccio, a niece of the bridegroom from Sayville and Sally Ann Russo, a cousin of the bride from Deer Park, were the flower girls. They wore long olive green chiffon gowns with lace jackets and carried baskets of orange chrysanthemums.

James McCoy of Buffalo was the best man and the ushers were Frank Biondo, the bride's brother, Vincent D'Angelo of New York, the bridegroom's cousin and Dennis Reale of Woodbury, N. Y. Stephen Coluccio of Sayville, the bridegroom's nephew, was the ringbearer.

A reception for 250 people followed the ceremony at the Naragansett Inn in Lindenhurst, where the decorations were of gold and white flowers.

The bride's mother wore emerald green peau de soie with a beaded portrait collar, matching accessories and a white orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother's costume was mint green chiffon and lace, matching hat and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Manfredi is a graduate of Lindenhurst High School and was employed as a court clerk in the second district court. Her husband is a graduate of Seton Hall High School in Patcong and Hofstra University in Hempstead. The couple have gone to Germany and will live in Frankfurt where Lt. Manfredi is stationed for two years with the U. S. Army.

Miss Lockwood Becomes James McGinnes' Bride

Miss Mary Ann Lockwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Westerbeke Jr. of Gall Drive, Lake Ronkonkoma, became the bride of James Brooke McGinnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold McGinnes of Castro Valley, Calif., on Saturday afternoon in St. Joseph's R. C. Church, Lake Ronkonkoma. The Rev. Vincent J. Powers officiated at the nuptial mass before the altar decorated with baskets of white carnations and gladioli.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of peau de soie with a cathedral train attached at the bustle. The gown had an Empire waistline and a panel of Alencon lace down the front embroidered with seed pearls. It had long sleeves and a scalloped neckline. She wore a butterfly jeweled crown with a two-tier veil of tulle. One part was shoulder length and the other was full and the length of the train. She carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis on a missal.

Miss Carol Kampher of Holtsville was maid of honor wearing a floor-length gown with a Mediterranean blue velvet bodice and a cornflower blue crepe skirt in a semi-Empire style. She wore a fingertip illusion veil of shaded Mediterranean blue and carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses.

Miss Ruth Craft and Miss Cynthia Sichenzia, both of Lake Ronkonkoma, were bridesmaids. They wore gowns like that of the maid of honor and tiaras with shoulder veils of Mediterranean blue, and carried cascade bouquets of blue carnations and yellow roses.

Deborah Rielly of East Islip, a cousin of the bride, was flower girl. Her gown had a Mediterranean blue bodice and cornflower blue skirt. She wore a blue crepe bow in her hair and carried a basket of blue carnations and yellow roses.

Harold McGinnes of Castro Valley was best man for his son. Angelo Pondoleo of Central Islip and Anthony Oneza of Lake Ronkonkoma were ushers.

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception for 65 guests was held in the Country Tavern in Farmingville.

Mrs. Westerbeke, mother of the bride, wore a floor-length gown of Paris pink satin in mandarin style trimmed with aurora borealis with a mink stole and a Paris pink hat. She wore a corsage of white roses.

Mrs. McGinnes was ill and not able to make the trip here from the coast.

The bride is a graduate of Sachem High School at Lake Ronkonkoma in 1964 and of Bellport Cosmetology school. She has received an honorable discharge from the U. S. Air Force. Her husband is a graduate of Laney College, Oakland, Calif. and is a photographic specialist with the U. S. Air Force in Louisiana.

The newly married couple will go by plane to New Orleans where they will live.

Department colonial life and drum corps, apparatus of the Bayport Fire Department, a group of the Smith-Wever Post and its auxiliary and junior auxiliary, a car carrying World War I veterans and the locomotive of the Sayville 40 & 8 post.

Memorial services were conducted at the park by Ernest N. Munkelwitz, acting chaplain of the Smith-Wever Post. Addresses were made by General Stevenson, Admiral Sessions, Lt. Col. George F. X. McInerney of Bayport, Islip Town Board councilman Walter Kachel and Peter Cohalan, a deputy town attorney.

After the addresses, a rifle salute was fired, "Taps" was played and wreaths were placed on the memorial plaque in the park by Edward Otto, past commander of the post, and Mrs. Otto, president of the auxiliary. An open house reception followed at Legion Hall on Foster Avenue.

Several speakers commented on the fact that World War I ended with people saying there would never be another war, though wars have been almost continuous ever since. They all warned against complacency in the face of Communist threats.

"World War II came about," said Admiral Sessions, "because we had let our defenses go to pot and had to resort to appeasement. . . Vietnam is a step in the right direction, but here we again have let our defenses shrivel. . ."

General Stevenson spoke ironically of two news stories he had just seen side by side on the front page of a newspaper — one, concerning newly inducted husbands, quoting one disgruntled husband as saying, "It would be different if there was a war on," and the other under a headline saying, "Two More from Long Island Die in Vietnam."

"We of the democratic form of government," said Colonel McInerney, who is a reserve officer and, in civilian life county judge, "value most highly our freedom of speech. . . With men of honor, then, we can have no issue. We can, however, despise the tiny minority which cynically uses the freedom others have bought so dearly for them to deny and disparage the very institutions which protect them. These few are moral parasites, vultures fattening on the bodies which feed them."

Card Party to Aid Scholarship Fund

The annual card party for the benefit of the Sayville Parent-Teacher Association scholarship fund will be held at Sayville High School on Friday at eight p. m. The card party committee is headed by Mrs. George S. Rhodes. Tickets are being sold by class representatives or may be purchased at the door.

For the 1966-67 school term, $1,200 in P.T.A. scholarships are being shared by Sayville High School graduates. There are presently four students participating in the Walter H.

Dickes Scholarship, which is awarded to teaching students and provides four-year continuing assistance. In addition, a lump-sum award, more directly dependent on the success of that year's fund drive, is made annually.

Those sharing the current awards are: Martin Dorio, a senior at the University of the State of New York at Stony Brook; Miss Elaine Kiesling, a junior at the University of the State of New York at Oswego; Miss Paula Smith, a sophomore at the University of Mass., Amherst, Mass.; Miss Diane Wickham, a freshman at the University of the State of New York at Oswego, and Miss Esther Mae Wessels, a freshman at Calvin College, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Hammond-Rondello

Mrs. Agnes Rondello of 536 Evergreen Avenue, Bohemia, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Barbara Ann and Pfc. Dexter Robert Hammond, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Brett of Walnut Avenue, West Sayville.

Pfc. Hammond is stationed with the U. S. Marine Corps at Camp Lejeune, N. C. Miss Rondello works at Academy Cleaners in Oakdale.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Three Hunters Bagged As Hunt Season Opens

Francis Baudille, 26, of 265 Collington Drive, Ronkonkoma, was one of three hunters who received flesh wounds in the first hunting accident reported on Long Island since the season opened on November first.
