So excited were the new sergeants over their promotion that they could not wait to be sworn in. Early this morning, long before Chief Clerk Kipp was ready to give them their certificates they were waiting at police headquarters. As soon as the chief clerk could get his papers ready he had the officers marched up in bunches and formally made sergeants. All wore broad smiles as they took off their silvered roundsmen shields for sergeants' shields of gold.

The meeting of the Police Board last night, at which the sergeants were made, was not very exciting, though Chief Devery did create a small sensation by walking into the meeting without invitation or authority. The commissioners divided the patronage among themselves as follows: Commissioner York got 23 sergeants, Commissioner Sexton 25 and Commissioners Abell and Hess 5 each. Chief Devery's act in breaking into the meeting caused a lot of wonder and curiosity as to its meaning. It is said that the Chief had been telephoned by Commissioner Abell to attend the meeting. Commissioner York asserted after the meeting that Devery had not been invited and did not speak a word in the meeting. It is said that perhaps the Chief only wanted to be on hand in case the question of his removal was raised.
