

James S. Tierney.

James S. Tierney, 34, died Monday after a long illness at 68 Fifty-fourth street, Corona. Mr. Tierney was a policeman and retired from the force in 1912 to return to his trade as a stereotyper with the New York Herald. He leaves his wife. Police Inspector Tierney, of Manhattan, is an uncle of the deceased, and there is one brother, Simeon Tierney, a detective of the Fourth Branch, Manhattan. The burial was made in Evergreens Cemetery, following a mass of requiem in Our Lady of Sorrows R. C. Church this morning.
