HER SON, THOUGHT
DEAD, IS ALIVE IN A FRENCH HOSPITAL

Nearly heartbroken, but proud that her son had died for such a good cause, Mrs. Yerks tried to forget.

COMMUNITY HOSPITALITY FOR CITY TENEMENT CHILDREN

For forty-two years the New York Tribune Fresh Air fund has been in existence, doing each summer its noble work in behalf of the poor children of the crowded city tenements by sending them into the fresh air and wholesome life of the country. Thirteen homes are maintained in New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

The other branch of the work is the community hospitality where children are invited to become guests in homes of the community—one child or more to a home for two weeks. A representative of the Tribune fund was in town on Monday to interest people in the movement.

Beacon, Monday.—A huge wild cat measuring four feet six inches from tip of nose to the end of the tail was shot in "Hell Hollow" near Mount Beacon, Saturday, by Amos Williams, of Beacon. AUTO TRAPS WILL BE ABOLISHED

Connecticut Offers Relief to Motorists. Many Speeders Have Been Caught.

Hartford, Saturday.—"Speed traps" by which hundreds of automobilists have been caught by local constables, brought before justices of the peace and fined, are to be eliminated in Connecticut under a new law which became effective July 1. Fines imposed under that system have benefitted individuals.

The state law affecting automobilists hereafter is to be enforced by the automobile department of the state. Local traffic regulations, however, are to continue in force.

Under the new law enacted by the general assembly there is no speed limit, but recklessness may still be penalized irrespective of speed. Standing trolley cars may not be passed without great care. The automobile department will maintain highway patrols whose authority is broad enough to complain on visible evidence of excessive speed or recklessness, the department to prosecute in a manner that will not hold up permanently a touring party and which will enable the accused driver to defend himself.

On the other hand the new law is designed to protect motorists against the sale by garages of adulterated or watered gasoline and against short measure, by requiring inspection of the garages by agents of the automobile department.

In some places where local option has so decided moving picture exhibitions will be held Sunday evenings. This is characterized as the first real breach in the "blue laws" of colonial times which, among other restrictions, provided that a man might not kiss his wife on Sunday.

PAWLING HAS FIRST
SUPREME COURT SESSION

Poughkeepsie, Monday.—The Superior Court moved to Pawling today in the person of Justice Joseph Morschauer. It is believed that this is the first time that a special session of that tribunal has ever been held in the historic village.

A tangle over a real estate title must be straightened out. The case came up in Poughkeepsie a few days ago, but the court wants to see for itself the exact situation of affairs.

A strip of land along the Harlem railroad is doubly claimed.

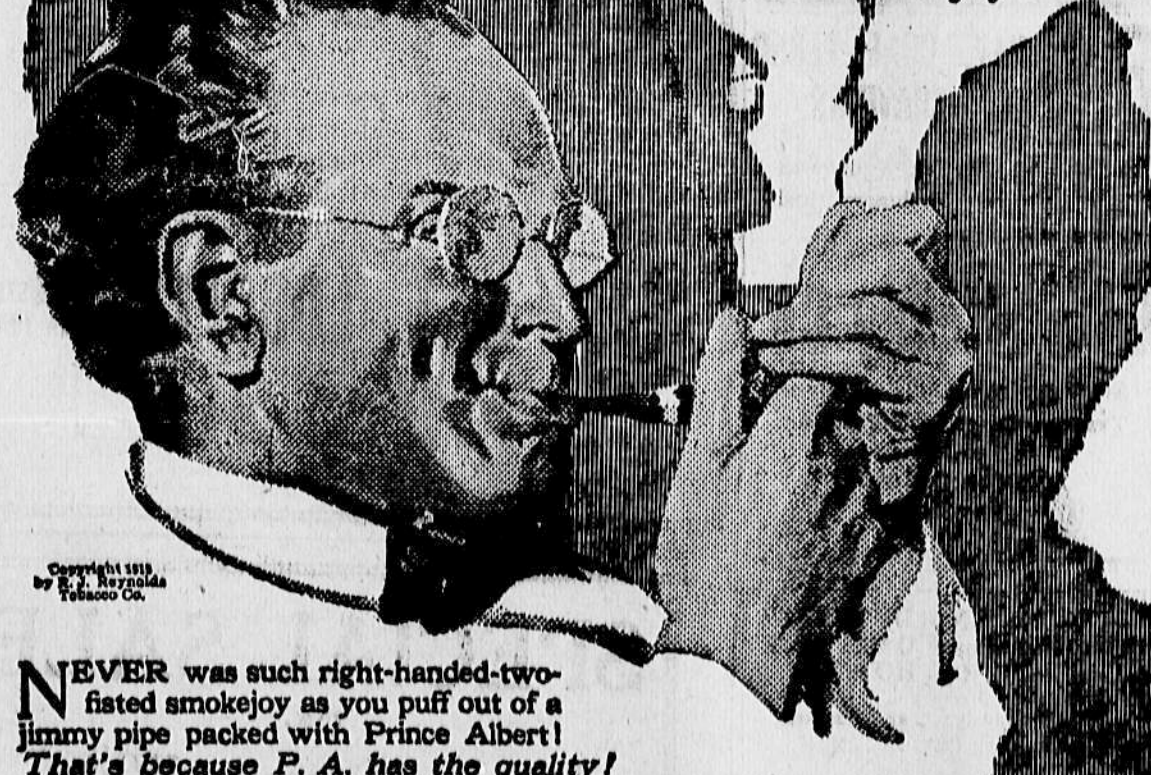

The railroad claims it because it possessed a deed for it. The village claims it because the strip has been used as a public highway for nearly forty years and has improved it with pavement, electric lights, water and sewer, even assessing the railroad company for the latter's share of the improvements from time to time.

The leading hotel, several stores and other business property have used the land so long that their owners are contesting in court the recently formed purpose of the railroad to charge rent for it.

The decision is "up to" Justice Morschauer.

A good many people seem to be still in ignorance of the fact that on July 1 the old pre-war postal rates were resumed, namely: two cents for letters and one cent for postals and post cards and local or drop letters.

Those who find themselves in possession of two-cent postal cards and three-cent stamped envelopes can have them exchanged at the post office for their value in one-cent postal cards and two cent stamps.
